Range of Investment Portfolios

Defensive (Risk Level 2) - our most cautious portfolio, it aims to preserve the 'real value' of an investor's capital i.e. after taking into account the effects of inflation.

Cautious Income (Risk Level 3) - a low-risk portfolio where generation of a stable income is the primary focus, combined with most capital growth.

Income (Risk Level 4) - a lower-moderate risk approach to providing a balance of income and capital growth.

Income and Growth (Risk Level 5) - a typical moderate risk portfolio designed to provide a balance of capital growth and income. Often referred to simply as a 'Balanced' portfolio, capital returns can be boosted over the long-term if the investor opts to reinvest income.

Equity Growth with Income (Risk Level 6) - is the upper-end variant of a moderate risk portfolio. The principal target is capital growth; so the income generated is usually a lower proportion of the total return.

Equity Growth (Risk Level 7) - is the higher-risk portfolio targeting long-term capital growth. Income is not a priority for this investor.

Higher Risk Equity Growth (Risk Level 8) - is the highest risk portfolio where the emphasis is on equities, the asset class that has the potential to deliver the best returns over the long term but with the risk of higher levels of volatility.
